Green Anatomy

Letter to Generation Green

Introduction

Generation Green and Alana Wong have really helped our group along the way through the webinars, the Gen Green booklet and in other ways as well. Generation green is amazing because they are an organization working to protect our earth and getting youth involved to go there, and for that we are forever grateful.

Employees of HEN

Thank you all so much for all of the emails and help along the way. Thank you Alana Wong starting by organizing the first conference. That conference got us involved in real climate action. She came to our school and she walked us through step by step. At the meeting she gave us documents and spreadsheets to help us with our calculations. She also recommended that we make a social media account that is one way that we spread environmentally quotes and updates on our project. Then now and into the future, we know that we'll always have someone to help us. Alana as well has her Bachelors in Biochemistry. Thank you so much Allana Wong.

All of the other employees of HEN are so nice and so supportive. Lisa Kohler is the director of HEN. She initiated the Halton Climate Collective, a dedicated team of regional and municipal leaders focussed on advancing local action. Those are not the only amazing employees at HEN. Thank you all so much.

Generation Green

Generation Green is a youth led organization with the goal of engaging Halton students in climate action leadership, and supporting us in our commitment to lower greenhouse gas emission in order to drive change and action in our community and school. They go around to schools and help run environmental initiatives. They help get students involved in projects to reduce their GHG emissions in the community (school). They helped us by supporting us along the way and guided us throughout the project. But most of all, and for this we are forever grateful, they kept us motivated and on track!

Thank you all so much!!!

John, Kate, Jack, William.
